

Background check and right to work

Client engagements, and government work in particular, make commencement conditional on screening. This form records your consent to those checks and the evidence Vantage Meridian holds to support it.

Vantage Meridian verifies only what the engagement requires. It does not run credit checks, it does not seek health information and it does not approach a current employer without your agreement. Where a client runs its own screening in addition to this, you are told what it involves before it starts.

1. Identity and right to work

Provide the evidence that applies to you. A passport is sufficient on its own for citizens and for visa holders subject to a VEVO check; otherwise provide a birth certificate or citizenship certificate together with a photo identity document.

Full legal name
Any former or other names	Needed so a police check returns a complete result
Date of birth
Country of birth
Work entitlement	Australian citizen, permanent resident, or visa subclass
Visa subclass and any conditions	Including hours restrictions and expiry, where applicable
Passport number and country of issue
Evidence attached	List the documents provided

☐ I consent to Vantage Meridian confirming my work entitlement through the Department of Home Affairs VEVO service, where my entitlement depends on a visa.

2. National police check

Most clients accept a check issued within the previous 12 months. Some require a new check conducted through their own provider and will not accept an existing certificate, so the outcome of this section is not always in Vantage Meridian's control.

☐ I hold a national police check issued within the last 12 months. Date of issue: _____ . A copy is attached.

☐ I do not hold a current check and I consent to Vantage Meridian, or a provider engaged by Vantage Meridian or the client, obtaining a national police check about me for this engagement.

☐ I have a disclosable court outcome. I understand a disclosable outcome does not automatically prevent a placement and that it is assessed against the requirements of the role.

3. Qualifications, licences and registrations

List anything you claimed in your resume or suitability statement that the client may test. You agreed to provide documentary evidence on request when you signed the Required Information Form, and this is that request.

4. Referees

Two referees, and both should be people who directly managed you. If you cannot provide two direct managers, say so here rather than substituting a peer without comment, because a client that discovers the substitution during its own checks reads it as concealment.

CURRENT EMPLOYER

Tick if Vantage Meridian and the client must not contact your current employer until an offer is made. ☐

5. Client-specific screening

Record any additional screening this client requires. Government engagements commonly add one or more of the following, and each has its own lead time.

SCREENING	REQUIRED	CONSENT GIVEN
Australian Government security clearance, being [insert level]	☐	☐
Working with children check or blue card	☐	☐
Client probity or conflict-of-interest declaration	☐	☐
Client-conducted identity verification, being a 100-point check or equivalent	☐	☐
Other, being [insert]	☐	☐

6. How your information is handled

Vantage Meridian collects this information to verify your suitability for a specific engagement and to meet obligations it owes the client under the head contract. Your personal information is handled in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).

- Who sees it. Sky Lavelle, and the client and its screening agents where the engagement requires it. It is not provided to any other party without your agreement.
- What is disclosed. The outcome of a check, not the underlying record. A client is told that a check has cleared or that it has not, and any detail beyond that is discussed with you first.
- How long it is kept. For the duration of the engagement and for seven years afterwards, which is the period Vantage Meridian's own record-keeping obligations run for. Evidence that is no longer needed is destroyed.
- Withdrawing consent. You may withdraw consent at any time in writing. Withdrawal does not undo a check already completed, and it will normally end the placement, because the client cannot accept an unscreened person on site.
- Access and correction. Ask Sky and you will be told what is held about you, and anything inaccurate will be corrected.

7. Consent and declaration

By signing below you consent to Vantage Meridian, and to any provider or client acting on its behalf, verifying your identity, right to work, criminal history, qualifications, licences, registrations and employment history for the purpose of this engagement. You confirm that the information you have given on this form and in your submission is true, accurate and complete, and you acknowledge that providing false or misleading information may result in withdrawal of a submission or termination of an engagement.
